Letters from London of the 31st, express the epinion that there would be an average crop of wheat, and that it was principally secured, except in the Northern districts.

We have been obligingly favored with the London Courier of August 31st, the latest paper received, which contains an important article of intelligence, the substance of which, is that Despatches from the British Minister, Mr. Gordon, at Constantinople, dated August 38th, were received at London. No accounts had reached the former place of the further advance of the Russians. The Sultan had not quitted that Capital, and the appearances of consternation on the part of the people, and of an incipient anxiety for peace on the part of the government, continued the same as before.

Despatches of the same date from the French Minister at Constantinople, to his government, give a description of the disorganization of the Turkish troops, and the exhaustion of their resources. It was indeed the conviction that fur-

From the London Moraisg Post of August 29.

THE HARVEST.—The accounts of the harvest are so contradictory that it is difficult to arrive at the actual state of the case. As relates to the district in the heart of which we live, we are enabled to give an accurate opinion, obtained by personal inquiry among the farmers and dealers in grain, attending on market on Tuesday. We have thuf obtained information of the state of the crops in the towns and villages round Leeds, including Headingley, Harewood, Harrogate, Easi, Rigton, Garforth, Abberford, Sherburn, Rothwell, Pontefract, Wakefield, &c. All accounts from these places concur in stating that a little damage has been done to the more forward crops, by the unfavourable weather, but that should the rain abate, and genial weather succeed, the mischief would in no instance prove serious, and the produce, generally speaking, be much superior to that of many former years. Up to Saturday last, notwithstanding the rain that had fallon previously during the week, on part of two or three days, no very material injury had been suffered by any of the crops, further than that occasioned by the circumstances of the unavoidable interruption of the work of outting and gathering. There were three very good harvest days the last week.—Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. On those days farmers were quite on the alert, and, with all hands that could he procured, busily engaged in outting and gathering. In several of the carrier destricts, great part of the wheat is in stack, uninjured, and almost all cut down; there is some in stack, and part of Friday's cutting was on ledge on Sunday. The latter is the only part for the safety of which any apprehension could be entertained; but Sunday evening having been fair, at the active of the relation of the work to outs or barley. There should be a continuity of west or barley. There should be a co of the Dardanelles and of the principal ports of the Black Sea, it is supposed would be the only ones satisfactory to England.

England will not interfore with Portugal, since she has told Spain that she may manage the affairs of the Peninsula in her own way.

An article in the Courier states, that the sailing of the Russian squadran had been sensitive. vorable, the harvest business will be in such a state by Saturday night as to put an end to all further serious apprehensions respecting it in the county of Dublin. With respect to the quantity, judging from what has been threshed, and the appearance of the remainder, we shall have wheat nearly double that of last year, and of eats, perhaps, as much and a half. This will make up for the deficiency in store in a great measure. It will be remembered that there was scarcely half an average crop of wheat last year, and considerably under an average one of eats.—Dublin Evening Pucket.

OFFICIAL NEWS FRUM CONSTANTINOPLE.

The French Government has received intelligence from Constantinople up to the 8th August. In the accounts received, not one word is said of the great victory reported to have been gained by the Russians at the distance of 20 leagues from Constantinople, put the mows of the victory is said to have reached Vienna on the 12th inst; the battle most then have taken place, and the result must have been known in Constantinople, previously to the 7th inst, the date of the despatches received. The news of the battle of Rirh-Kilima was conveyed to Munich by a Russian Minister, the Count Potemain, who says that he got it from Talischoff, the Russian Ambaseador at Vienna. There can be little doubt now of its being an invention. However, the account from Constantinople speak of the uncasinose that reigns in that capital, and of the dread of the arrival of the Russians at Adrianople.

dread of the arrival of the Russians at Adrionople.

The accounts likewise state that the old Janissarise who were at Erzeroum revolted on the approach of the Russians, and that without doubt the revolt greatly facilitated the taking of the fortress. It is added that this is the worst feature in the late events; and the truth of this observation may be very well conceived, for should the ex-Janissaries in other parts of the empire follow the example of their brethren at Erzaroum, it may lead to the most fatal consequences. The Frussian agent, Muffling, had arrived at Constantinople. General Guilleminot was unwell.

ess. The Prussian agent, Muffling, had arrived at Constantinople. General Guilleminet was unwell.

The negotiations with the Porte had taken a favourable turn, and the Ambassadors had hopes of succeeding in their mission; but this of course could nave no effect upon the war with Russia, that being a quite distinct question from that of the settlement of Greece.

Much has been said hers, within the last few days, of the entrance of Admiral Maloolm into the Black Sex; but the accounts received by the Government here state, that the English Admiral was at Ipeara on the 9th inst. It is added, that he was then erubing to keep the craw of his vessels in good health.

It is not true that the Ministry of Police is to be re-established, and confided to M. de Villele.

OBESSA, Aug 2.—Gen Witt, who commands the reserve of 80,000 men, belonging to the grand army in the field, has arrived here, where he has his head quarters.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 7.—By way of Silistria we have received direct accounts from the army of General Diebitsch, according to which the light troops were within twelve hours march of Adrianople. We therefore expect shortly very important intelligence.

TURKINE FRONTERNS, Aug. 8.—At Widdin

Advisnople. We therefore expect shortly very important intelligence.

Turkish Frorters, Aug. 8.—At Widdin the Turks have spread the unauthenticated news that the Pacha of Advisnople, and Hassan Pacha, united, had had a most sanguinary battle with the Russians, near Bourgas, in which the latter sustained considerable lose. As the Pacha of Scutari is on the point of commencing operations against Gen. Geismar, it is conjectured that he circulates such reports in order to encourage his Albanians. Gen. Geismar is gone from Krajova to his intrenched eamp at Sadovan, in order to begin his operations with vigor.

Constantinople, Aug. 1.—Since the 26th ult. one piece of bad news has followed another. The Pacha of Sinope has sent word that Trebison is half destroyed by a bombardment by the Russian flost, and will hardly be able to defend Reelf. On this side of the Balkan, however, measures are taken to make the most vigorous resistance. The Pacha of Adrianople, who has 12,000 men, is gone towards Bourgas to join Hussen Pac's.

Toulon, Aug. 19.—The frigate the Clorinde, the brigs the Adonis and the Alerte, had scarcely anchored in the roads of Toulon, on their return from Algiers, when what had taken place respecting the ship Provence, was communicated to the Ministry by telegraph. Several dispatches were transmitted by the same channel to Paris, and from Paris to Toulon, and the order was at length given for the sailing of the bomb ketches, but the weather did not allow of their going out. The ship of the line Scipio, the frigate Syrone, and some other vessels, will follow the bounh ketches without delay; they are to go first to Mahon to join the flotilla which is in that direction. If the bombardment does not dispose the Day to come to an arrangement, it appears that there is a determination to send against him an expedition of 25 or 30,000 men next spring.

§ It is now stated in the Ministerial circles that, according to the accounts received by the Government, the state of the Turks is very bad. They have no troops to oppose the Russians. The recruits that have been raised to supply the place of the men killed in the late battles are all young men, mere lads under twenty. At Adrianople the Russians were expected and wished for, in consequence of the licentious conduct of the Asiatic troops stationed there. The official accounts do not, however, express any fear for the capital itself for the present. Diebitech has not more than from 25 to 30,000 men,

"Bir—I have just read in a journal the following article:—

"M. D'Haussez wrote to Count Roy before he was appointed Minister of the Marine, that he congratulated himself that he did, not make part of the new administration, which appeared to him so unpopular that he doubted its duration. M. Roy has shown his letter to several persons, when a report was spread that M. D'Maussez was appointed minister."

"It is very true that since my retirement from the ministry you have done me the heasour to write to me to repeat the testimenies of attachment which I have constantly received from you, but your letter contained authing similar to what is insinuated in the article which I have just quoted, and it is false that I have shown it to any person whatever.

"At length the Balkan is passed. Messembria, Archioli, Bourgas, in short, the country all round the Guif, is occupied by our troops. The defeated and scattered Turks are flying in all directions. We have taken 3000 prisoners, 65 cannon, and a great number of standards. It was on the 22d that the commander in chief was on the highest part of the Balkan. It is impossible to describe the astonishment of the army at the few obstacle they met within pussing the mountain. As for the enemy, the troops that are with the head quariers have not even got sight of them. Even the corps of Generals Roth and Rudiger did not meet them till they got on the south side of the Balkan. At the moment that the troops beheld from the summit of the mountains the Guif of Bourgas, a loud and general hussa burst from them. On the 23d we descended into the plain, and on the way we heard of the taking of Messembris, and we enjoyed the fine sight of part of our fleet lying in the bay. The commander in chief with his suite, went on board the Paris, ship of the line, where the Admiral gave a splendid entertainment.

"From that time fresh victories have brought us hither. In fact, all appears like a miracle, and the disorder, the disorganization, and the terror of the Turks, are quite extraordinary; they fly and retire towards Adrianople. On the 27th our vanguard was at Karnabat. We know nothing for certain respecting the movements of the Grand Visier; some reports say he has left Shoumla, and retreated towards Adrianople.

"We did not get under cover till we reached Aides. The commander in chief occupies the same house that the Grand Visier; inhabited during the whole winter. Near us, and for a considerable distance around, all as quiet is if we were in profound peace. A part of our vanguard must be to-day at Faki."

HAMBURGH AND FLANDERS MAILS.

Berlin, August 23.—The St. Petersburgh journals of the 13th give some extracts from the journals of the operations of the army under Count Diebitsch to afford a view of the events that took place previous to the report from Aidos, of the 30th of July. They contain in substance the statements we have already given, and we therefore extract only the following details of the operations of Admiral Greig.

"Admiral Greig reports that he sailed from Sizeboli on the 7th (19th) with three ships of the line, three frigates, one brig, two gun-boats, and a steam-boat, and anchored the next day before Messembria; the calm which continued two days then the violent wind en the 21st and 22d, hindered the fleet from beginning the blockade of the town. The wind however abated on the night of the 22d, so that the fleet was able to act in concert with the troops of General Roth. The fire of the fleet blew up a powder magazine in the town."

REMARKABLE PRESERVATIO.N REMARKABLE PRESERVATIO.N

On Friday the 25th of September, a thunder shower passed over the north part of this County which did considerable damage in its course. In Harvard an instance of preservation from the effects of lightning took place, which is one of the most extraordinary that we recollect to have heard of. Adjacent to the out buildings of Shadrach Hangood, the lightning struck a stack of hay, and descending by the pole in the centre it divided helf way down, and one portion passed out through the side of the stack into the end of a work shop adjacent, which contained in one part of it a considerable quantity of hay. On one side of the shop, at a little distance, stood a cider mill, in which there were at the the time 8 persons. A yoke of oxen, standing between the two buildings, were struck down by the lightning, and one of them killed instantly, and the other se badly injured as to be of little value. From the oxen the fluid passed into the cider-mill house through an open window. The horse, which was grinding in the mill, was struck to the ground. Three boys, who were standing on the side of the mill next to the window, and one who was cleaning the pomace from the mill, were thrown, by the concussion of the air, entirely over the trough into a heap, in the horse's track, on the other the pomace from the mill, were thrown, by the concussion of the air, entirely over the trough into a heap, in the horse's track, on the other side a distance of ten feet. to make them confourable to almost every kind of business. For the use of Schools and Counting Houses.—
By Thomas T. Smiley, Teacher; author of An Easy
Introduction to the Study of Geography. Also, of Sacred Geography for the use of Schools.

Among the numerous flattering testimonials of its reperiority over any other now in see, is the following:
Philadelphia, Sept. 18, 1859.—We have examined with care and attention the "New Federal Calculator or Scholar's Assistant," by Thomas T. Smiley; and have no hesitation in premouncing it an excellent Arithmetic.
The aerangement is good, and has evidently resulted from the reflections of a prestion and judicious Teacher; the definitions and rules are expressed in clear and simple language, well adapted to the capacities of the young; the questions are convenient for the purpose of examination, the examples use of a strictly practical character; and the book on the whole
